

Maths:

- Practice your tables - 2nd class keep practising your addition and subtractions tables and 3rd Class keep practising your multiplication and division tables. Do your tables games like The Clock or D'Oh if you have a dice.
- Continue in your Master Your Maths books, do the next two weeks and also the Friday tests.
- Both classes: Topic for this week and next week is 3D shapes and Time

We have already done some of these at school so this is a chance to go back over and practice or to learn something new. There are activities included for both classes but if 2nd would like to try some of the 3rd class work, please do. Alternatively, you can check your Busy At Maths in your book or on the CJ Fallon app for more work related to these topics.

3rd Class: the relevant pages on time (days, months, seasons) is pg 151-155 in your Busy At Maths.

2nd Class: the relevant pages in your Busy at Maths on time are 114-120. It is a good chance to go back over such an important topic! Pages 74-78 also deal with the months and seasons as well as the calendar.

We would really like you to get outside and find, draw, label as many 3d shapes around your home as possible. You could try something like this on a blank page or in your Maths copy.

Area	Object	Shape
Garden	Tree trunk	Cylinder
	Plant stem
	Fence rail
Kitchen	Cornflakes box	Cuboid
	Pringles tube
Bedroom	Book	Cuboid
	Lego box	cuboid
Shed	Football	Sphere

Time: why not do out a list of the important times in the day in your Maths copy and draw the clock face to show each time. For example: Get up at 8 o' clock and draw the clock. Breakfast at half past 8. Draw the clock. Play outside at 9 o'clock. Snack at 11 o clock etc.

- There are plenty of websites with games and activities to practise tables and other numeracy activities- Oxfordowl.co.uk -fun maths games and activities- select the relevant age, IXL Maths, topmarks.co.uk
- Playing board games and cards are all fun ways to exercise your numeracy skills also!

The following link is from the European Space Agency with some excellent information all about the solar system! <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aLOi2jJBai0>

You could present your project in a model, on a poster in the same way that Ms. Franklin's class used to do for us on their project topics, as a big drawing or as a Powerpoint or on a Microsoft Word document if you have access to a laptop. See how you get on!!

Oral language

- Present your project to your family - tell them some new facts you have learned about space or the moon landing! Maybe build a model from cardboard, recycled bottle, tinfoil, twine or even lego model of a rocket you have invented.
- Retell the story from the last book you read
- Present three things that you like or do not like about the COVID19 lock down. You could draw these up on a poster!
